“ Uncle Izzy was an aircraft mechanic during WW 2 and since every plane he worked on came back he was awarded the Bronze Star which is a big deal! When I was about twelve or thirteen, the Houston Chronicle would have a once a year father and son bowling tournament. Since my father did not bowl, I asked Uncle Izzy if he would be my partner. The first three frames I was nervous and was terrible, but I saw Uncle Izzy had three strikes in a row. I was thinking even with my bad start if he could bowl 300 we might have a chance. He didn't bowl 300 and I did not get any better, but I was so glad he was my partner. Steve Reichek
