

Maury Corb

November 22, 1951 - June 20, 2020

Maury Corb, 68, passed away on Saturday, June 20, 2020. He was born the eldest son to the late Alvin and Bailey Corb on November 22, 1951 in Houston, TX.

Maury was fascinated with surfing and playing the drums during his teenage years. He honed in on those skills throughout his life which kept him very active. He had a deep connection with people that shared the same music and surfing interests, with some dating back to his Westbury High School years.

Maury was considered the "cool" uncle as he lived single and living the life of travel and leisure. Due to work and mostly pleasure Maury traveled far and wide. He often surfed at some of the world's most famous beaches, such as his favorite, Hawaii. Other times he would drive across the country collecting vintage audio equipment. Maury was considered and recognized internationally as an expert on audio equipment. He had a passion in which he developed in his younger years while working at an audio store.

Maury will be missed by many people in the audio industry that would often call on him for his advice. He will definitely be missed by his loving family and numerous friends. He survived by his brother, Ronnie Corb; nephew, Jonathan Corb and niece, Mysha Baldwin.
